

"Electro-Response Technology May Drastically Reduce The Time American's Spend Recovering From The Common Cold..."

Released on: December 15, 2007, 9:16 am

Press Release Author: Louis Nash

Industry: Healthcare

Press Release Summary: Electro-Response cutting edge technology for immune system modulation.

Press Release Body: Electro-Response technology, a proven technology used in South Africa for years to help people improve their immune system modulation, is now available in the United States. This supplement may provide relief for anyone suffering from chronic illness.

*"For years Americans have used outdated technology to reduce or suppress the effects of the common cold" says Louis Nash, a leading

Electro-Response expert. "By adding Electro-Response to our diets we greatly improve our resistance to bacterial and viral infections that are becoming increasingly antibiotic and antiviral resistant."

A Texas based company recently became the exclusive importer of this product, utilizing cutting edge bio,electro,and molecular physics.The four natural ingredients aconite extract, thuja extract, bryonia extract, and arsen alb extract do not work in the conventional understanding of supplementation,but interact with chemicals within the body to manufacture new chemical compounds that have a biological healing effect.

Today Electro-Response herbal extract technology is available. In fact Mr.Nash has exclusive distribution. Contact Louis Nash for an exciting interview today at 573-431-7834

###

Web Site: <http://www.louisnash.biz>

Contact Details: Louis Nash
303 West Cedar St.
Desloge,Mo 63601
(573)431-7834
lnash89@yahoo.com