Press Release Body: Many people make resolutions in the New Year to revitalise their skin in order to gain a glowing complexion, and this year Boots and Imedeen are helping customers to do this with their 90 Day Challenge.

Many people are aware that skincare regimes may help their complexion with cleansing, toning, moisturising and exfoliating, but what many forget is that this radiant glow can come from within, using vitamins and minerals to maintain the skin's healthy texture and appearance. A healthy, balanced diet can do wonders for a person's skin, and Imedeen's skincare supplements are formulated with nutrients believed to promote healthy skin, from beneath the surface of the skin.

Boots and Imedeen are confident that people will see a noticeable improvement in their skin's appearance after using Imedeen Time Perfection skincare supplements and so are inviting people to join their Imedeen 90 Day Challenge, with a money back guarantee (for terms and conditions visit www.boots.com) if they don't see an improvement to their skin.

Imedeen Time Perfection Capsules has an advanced formula which helps care for sun-damaged and mature skin, from within, helping promote radiant and supple skin. Imedeen Time Perfection contains Biomarine Complex and Lycophence GS, a US patented skin defence system.

Imedeen are challenging people to take two Time Perfection Capsules per day for 90 days, and if customers don't see an improvement to their skin's appearance at the end of this time they can get their money back. Participants need to sign up to the challenge online by the end of January 2008.

Customers should seek professional advice before taking Imedeen products if pregnant, breastfeeding or suffer from allergies, and are advised to consult their doctor or pharmacist if suffering from any underlying condition such as epilepsy or diabetes or if taking any other medication.
