Malibu, California, April, 2009 – Drug addiction builds slowly over time. It is only in the moments when an addict has hit rock bottom that the realization forms that there is a serious problem in the lifestyle choice.

Regardless of how it starts, at some point every addict will come crashing down and be forced to face the reality of what is taking place. Lives have been destroyed. Family relationship ties have become severed, seemingly forever. You have turned against loved ones who tried to bring you face to face with your drug problem. It is not because you do not love them but because you can not stand to hear the truth. It is a truth that you have known for sometime. Your outlook on life has severely slipped to the dark side.

Understand that you are not alone. An estimated 15 million Americans struggle with drugs at any given point on any given day and are in desperate need of a drug rehab program. You need to reach out and find that place where you will be treated as a person. You need that place where you will be more than a number on a page or a statistic on the evening news. You need that place where you can seek help before you become further consumed into the dark and dangerous world of drugs.

Drugrehabsunset Malibu stands ready to be that drug treatment facility that can help you turn your life back around. You will be greeted by staff members who understand that you are a whole person and that there is more to you than just an addiction. Treatment begins with you receiving an individualized treatment program geared towards your needs and your addiction. You will be presented with traditional treatment options like therapy sessions and relapse prevention. In addition to this you will also receive holistic treatments such as equine therapy and acupuncture.

Part of the traditional approach will entail a drug detoxification process. This will not be an easy task. Rest assured you are not alone and that someone will be with you through every step of detoxification. You will slowly begin to build strength and trust in yourself and in those around you. A support system of lifelong friends will be found in the staff members and other residents at DrugrehabSunset Malibu. These individuals will become your support family that you can call on in the weak moments of rehabilitation and the outside world.

DrugrehabSunset Malibu offers holistic and traditional treatment options in a calming environment that aids in addiction treatment. You will be treated to many of the comforts of home. Personal chefs are available in the kitchen to create culinary delights for you every day. You can stroll through the botanical garden or sit and listen to the ocean waves roll into shore. Take in an afternoon massage or workout session with a personal trainer.

Make no mistake about drug treatment at DrugrehabSunsetMalibu. While the accommodations and amenities may mirror that of a luxury hotel, the work is real and it is perhaps the hardest thing you will ever do in life. You will gain a personal sense of strength and endurance that you did not know existed before treatment. Your life will change. It will be hard at times but it will be rewarding. You will build skills and tools need to successfully face the outside world once again.
