Bangkok, Thailand -- Bakner Limited today announced a strategic partnership with Glovetex, and Texinpro designed to expand their Global business. Glovetex and Texinpro are leaders in textile engineering. Bakner Limited develops, manufactures, and consults with partners in China to serve their Global clients.

"The partnership expands Bakner's capabilities in fiber and yarn extrusion, spinning and blending," said Jason Baker, Bakner's cofounder. "We will enhance Bakner's intellectual property by developing and patenting new high performance yarns."

"We are excited to be partnering with two high-quality manufacturing and development companies and this agreement represents a great opportunity to grow our business," said Matthew Wagner, cofounder.

"The combination of Glovetex and Texinpro's efficiency, capability, and knowledge after 15 years in the textile field, and the revolutionary innovations and continuous development of Bakner, will provide positive results to our Global clients," said Wongchai Sermsak, CEO of Glovetex.
