

The Photobook Company Is A New Website Launched By Leading London Digital Agency Cyber-Duck, Which Allows People To Design And Order A Luxury Handmade Photo Album Online

THE PHOTOBOOK COMPANY
— L O N D O N —

Released on: July 9, 2009, 3:53 am

Author: Matt Gibson

Industry: Software

The website allows users across the UK to create personalised albums which they design themselves.

By downloading the exclusive state-of-the-art photobook design software from The Photobook Company website completely free of charge, users can design their own album or choose from various pre-designate page templates which they can customise. The software enables users to upload their high-quality digital photographs from their computer into the album.

The software has an impressive array of tools to make it easier than ever for users to design their own wedding albums, by editing the background colours, images or captions with stunning scrapbook effects. Additionally, users can change the transparency of photographs (for faded backgrounds or blending photographs), resize photographs, layer images and easily alter the colours of the photographs (by adding classic sepia or black & white effects). The software is easy to use, meaning anybody can design their own photobook album in minutes.

There are tutorials and videos on The Photobook Company's website to guide users through the process from basic editing such as simply resizing a photo to more advanced editing processes such as adding effects to photographs.

The user is given the choice between having a landscape or portrait option with the photobook and two different cover options; leather embossed or photographic picture. The leather embossed cover option looks timeless and classy, and the photographic cover makes the custom album look contemporary and luxurious.

Once the user is happy with their album or photobook they can then order it online via The Photobook Company's website. The Photobook Company then handmake and professionally print the photobook album based on the custom design. The albums are printed on matt photographic paper which covers the entire double page spread (known as flush mounted) for a better quality and also enabling customers to have full panoramic images from edge to edge of the album.

All books / albums produced by the Photobook Company are handmade by their skilled and experienced bookbinders. The quality of the books and printing is manually checked and approved before they are sent out to ensure that customers receive a superior quality album that they will cherish forever. This includes colour correction and sharpening our customers images individually so that the image quality is optimised throughout the photobook. Many of The Photobook Company's competitors simply do not show this level of dedication to quality.

The website also makes it incredibly easy to order duplicate albums for relatives, friends and family including smaller versions of the main photobook album, as well as offering the opportunity to order 'thank you' cards based on the photobook design for guests.

To find out more about The Photobook Company and to test the unique photobook designing software for free please visit <http://www.thephotobookcompany.co.uk>. Also on the website watch preview videos to learn more about the many exciting features available in the photobook software.

Contact Details: The PhotoBook Company
PO BOX 712
Borehamwood
WD6 9FY
Email info@thephotobookcompany.co.uk