Women's fashion brand Roman Originals have launched a new women's underwear collection in collaboration with fashion guru's Trinny and Susannah and fashion brand Sloggi. What's more, Roman Original is also offering a further free delivery service for those customers that spend £45 or more.

Roman Originals have launched a new range of flattering and affordable women's underwear. Their knickers come in a variety of luxurious soft to the touch mixed fabrics and a selection of soft to vibrant colours. Both comfort and flattery are qualities that are at the forefront of the new Roman Original underwear designs.

The new womens underwear collections are available in an array of styles, colours and sizes. These women's underwear ranges focus on accentuating the female form and importantly, supporting the body fully and comfortably at all times. All of Roman Originals underwear is designed with figure improving and supporting qualities. Consequently, the new underwear will boost confidence not matter a females shape or sizes. In particular, the unique and exclusive range of 'Magic knickers' and 'Control Thongs' designed by fashion guru's Trinny and Susannah are said to flatten the stomach, synch in the waist, slim the thighs and lift the bum. As a result, women nationwide are set to look and feel fabulous when they sport Roman Originals underwear.

Roman Originals offers this new beautiful range of womens underwear at very affordable prices. Their wonderful women's underwear ranges consist of underwear sets in soft and comfortable cotton mix fabrics. All of the women's underwear sets are designed with comfort, practicality and most importantly, flattery in mind. Roman Originals has brought quality clothing to the high street for over 50 years now. Roman Originals listen to their customers, especially during this current economic climate. This progression means that the all clothing, even the underwear ranges continue to be of the highest quality at entirely affordable prices. The underwear provided is designed with women of all ages and sizes in mind. With all of this taken into consideration, customers are returning time and time again with confidence in the longevity of style and standard of their purchases.

All women's underwear by Roman Originals are designed and manufactured in house and available in over 150 outlets across the United Kingdom. Orders made online are available to those that reside in the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland. Deliveries are made all year round, Monday to Friday.
