Panama City, Panama, October, 2009 – www.solocigars.com is one of the most appreciated Cuban cigars company, whose good name is supported by the quality of the products it brings to its clientele. It commercializes the best habanos brands from the amazing Bolivar to the classy Montecristo and the mighty Cohiba brands.

The website provides its visitors with all the necessary information in order for them to get in contact with the responsible personnel that will always be available and ready to meet all the suggestions. Should there be anyone who has some complaints concerning the quality of the services, or that of the products or if there is someone who simply has an idea that will help improve the quality of the services, Solocigars.com offers contact details regarding their departments in different parts of the world.

The PR Manager for www.solocigars.com, said that "We always update our website so that we can make our customers' visits easier and the purchases faster. Considering that we sell habanos to smokers from all around the globe, we found that including three more languages is a necessity for our customers".
