Clear Vantage adds several trainings on "Logistics" to the existing package! Clear Vantage has now a global structure with Supply Chain Management experts located in Europe, United States, India and China.

The Essence of Purchasing

CLEAR VANTAGE provides clear solutions allowing companies around the globe to reduce overall costs and to improve process efficiencies in a cross-functional way.

The used methodologies are based upon proven results working at Executive level for global top companies in industry and consultancy.

With the engagement of its international partners, Clear Vantage has turned quite challenging tasks into real success stories demonstrating excellence on cost-reduction methodologies, process improvements, project management, technological innovations and communications.

CLEAR VANTAGE "The Essence of Purchasing" has been founded by Johan van Hamme (Master Science in Chemical Engineering) in order to meet the increasing demand for cost reductions, higher service levels and process improvements.

Clear Vantage, is also focused on company specific and group specific Supply Chain and Purchasing Trainings. These trainings can cover elements such as supplier selection, operational and sourcing key performance indicators, cost reduction methodologies, contract development, low cost country sourcing, reverse auctions, supplier development, etc.

As founder and owner of the companies Clear Vantage and Cu-Factor, Mr. Johan van Hamme's goal is to provide you clear recommendations and support on how to reduce your costs, optimize your organization and streamline your material flows with a strong emphasis on quality.

Mr. Johan's 20+ years experience as Supply Chain Management Executive with key global industrial players could be of great contribution to your business.

Particularly, his in-depth knowledge of the automotive industry (car manufacturers, tier suppliers and aftermarket) and other highly complicated domains can help you to construct or strengthen your "bridge" to the Western world.

Johan's ability to master six European languages in conjunction with a strong sense of (European) business culture is a further significant differentiator that provides a strong value.
