Topshop, the award winning clothing retailer, has announced the return of its Sno clothing range.

Included in the collection are trousers, jackets, a ski suit, salopettes and a selection of accessories such as thermal style underwear, sunglasses, snoods, goggles and mittens. All designs are wind and water proof and feature rubberised zip-pulls and waterproof coated zips, offering complete comfort and protection from the elements. The Sno range has been streamlined since 2008 to include only the most essential pieces for customers' skiing holidays.

Jackets come in black and a monochrome print with a warm fur-trimmed hood. They are based on the mobility and functionality of the 'boarding' style jacket and feature a 'snow skirt' which keeps the snow out. They include a soft fleece interior, an adjustable hood, a glove pocket, a pocket for goggles and a zipped internal pocket, ideal for an iPod or phone.

There are two styles of trousers, including a ski style and a board style, with both available in classic black. All trousers, salapettes and the all-in-one boiler suit are part-fleece lined for comfort and warmth, and include taped seams and durable gaiters to go around the base of the ski boot.

Additional pieces include cotton thermal style underwear in either pale coral or dove grey, woollen snoods lined in fleece, padded ski mittens, knitted headbands and fleece-lined woolly hats. Spray-back sunglasses are available in black or charcoal and filter UV rays as well as offering resistance to snow glare.

The Topshop Sno range is focused on fashionable and affordable professional ski and boarding garments with accessories. The range incorporates technical ski features and provides manoeuvrability with maximum insulation and minimum bulk.

The Sno range is available at all Topshop stores in the UK and online at topshop.com.
