Brookson recently established a sole trader service to complement their established limited company and umbrella company service lines as part of a strategy to reach a wider market place. These latest appointments are considered key in order to deliver a market leading service.

As Brookson customers include engineers, IT contractors and healthcare professionals, the specialist expertise which Matt and Lee bring to the business will help in supporting delivery of innovative solutions to these self employed professionals.

Matt, will head up the team responsible for ensuring that HMRC obligations are met and tax planning opportunities are maximised for Brookson customers. Matt is an experiencedtax accountant, with nine years experience in the field of 'personal tax advice' following roles with PriceWaterhouseCoopers and KPMG.

Lee has a close understanding of Brookson's market having worked as a limited company IT contractor himself. Lee joins from Surecomp Business Solutions, having also held directorships with subsidiaries of the Royal Bank of Scotland and senior positions within Barclays Bank.

Recruited to oversee Brookson's IT operations, Lee's main focus will be delivering excellence in customer service. This will involve the evaluation and implementation of the latest technology available and maintaining ongoing security of Brookson's online services to sole traders, limited companies and to their umbrella company employees.

Brookson continues to widen its range of services which are underpinned by its investment and commitment to technology. The appointment of both Lee and Matt provides key expertise to the management team required for Brookson to meet its strategic goals.
