The main advantage to small business owners who use check writing software is that it saves them money in a variety of ways - and that is especially true during these economic times. halfpricesoft.com and TrialPay have teamed up to give small businesses and families a new way to get the check printing software for free - legally. Consumers can now get full version ezCheckprinting software or ezCheckPersonal software when they try or buy an offer from one of TrialPay's 2,000 blue-chip advertisers.

With this special offer for free check writing software and free check paper, a user's total cost for the bank checks can be $0 if he already has a laser computer.

ezCheckPrinting software is check designing, writing and printing software for small to mid-sized business. This software was intentionally engineered for those end-users who are not professional accountants and computer experts, so it is very simple and user friendly. Check printing software saves users money on checks. ezCheckPrinting will work with any blank/preprinted computer check paper with 8-1/2" X 11" size.

ezCheckpersonal is the personal version check printing and designing software.

"Everyone loves getting free software. But through our partnership with TrialPay, consumers can get their favorite software for free and get something else they want in the process," said Dr Ge, the founder of halfpricesoft.com. "It's a remarkable way to treat our customers to free software, while ensuring that the software's copyrights are properly obtained."

TrialPay is a revolutionary e-commerce payment platform that lets people pay for products online by buying or trying something else. Through TrialPay, halfpricesoft.com visitors can get the license key of business or personal check printing software by completing one advertiser offer, such as signing up with Blockbuster, buying clothes from Gap or signing up for an American Express credit card. With thousands to choose from, there's a TrialPay offer for everyone.
