[Malibu, CA] - Affluent addiction treatment patients often find themselves perplexed in their search for luxury drug intervention programs. The problem, unfortunately, is that it's difficult for those treatment patients to get reliable information from and about the most exclusive intervention drug rehab facilities around the country.

LuxuryDrugRehab.com is determined to change that dynamic.

LuxuryDrugRehab.com is a shining light in the referral market for drug intervention programs. The company provides personal counseling services for affluent intervention patients, with the goal of helping those patients find drug intervention programs that are exactly right for them. To do that, LuxuryDrugRehab.com's expert advisers closely scrutinize the best luxury facilities offering drug intervention programs around the country, then use their accumulated knowledge to deliver informed and insightful recommendations.

In the search for the right drug intervention program, there's simply no substitute for that sort of expertise.

It's important that a rehab patient be fully informed about drug intervention programs before enrolling in it. It would seem natural, then, that intervention centers would want to communicate openly and honestly with their prospective clients. If successful intervention develops from a foundation of truth, it's hard to imagine that any other course of action could lead to long-term recovery.

But those principles aren't always put into practice.

LuxuryDrugRehab.com's experts advisers have closely compared the information contained in advertising brochures published by luxury drug intervention centers with the actual truth about those centers' services. What they've found, unfortunately, is that some facilities intentionally mislead their prospective clients. As should go without saying, those facilities can't be trusted to produce meaningful or lasting healing.

Given the stakes in the fight against addiction, those sorts of failures can lead to disaster.

It's no secret that addiction is devastating disease. That's why LuxuryDrugRehab.com's counselors do everything in their power to ensure that their clients receive accurate information and expert advice on the road to a recovery center. For those clients and their families, no service could ever possibly be more important.

"I am really glad I called," said one client in a testimonial published on LuxuryDrugRehab.com's Web site. "Privacy was a big concern for me. Your counselor was very knowledgeable about all the top-tier drug intervention programs and helped me narrow it down to the ones where I could be sure my privacy would be respected. "
